Broadclyst Parish Council recognises that it has a responsibility to manage risks, both internal and external, and is therefore committed to the implementation of a risk management strategy in line with the introduction of Local Audit and Accountability Act 2014 in order to protect the Council from avoidable losses.

Key information

Neighbourhood Plans were introduced by the Localism Act 2011. The idea behind localism is that decision making is passed to a more local level, from local government to local communities. There are two main parts to neighbourhood planning: Neighbourhood Plans (NP) and Neighbourhood Development Orders (NDO).

A Neighbourhood Plan is a community-led planning framework for guiding the future development, regeneration and conservation of an area. It is about the use and development of land and may contain a vision, aims, planning policies, proposals for improving the area or providing new facilities, or allocating key sites for specific kinds of development. It may deal with a wide range of social, economic and environmental issues (such as housing, employment, heritage and transport) or it may focus on one or two issues only. It is for those producing the plan to decide on its scope and content.

A Neighbourhood Plan will be part of the statutory development plan for the area, if successful at a referendum. This statutory status gives neighbourhood plans more weight than some other local documents, such as parish plans, community plans and village design statements.

A Neighbourhood Plan must meet certain “basic conditions”. These include compliance with European and national legislation, contributing to the achievement of sustainable development, having appropriate regard to national policy and being in general conformity with existing strategic planning policy. It should not promote less development than that identified in the development plan for the area. It can provide for greater growth levels. It can also specify policies and guidance on how new development should be designed, orientated and located. The preparation of neighbourhood plans must include a robust programme of community engagement and have a proportionate evidence base.

REPORT

PROGRESS REPORT

1. Second NP Sites Public Consultation.

Thank you for all those in the community that have taken an active role in the Second NP Public Consultation. The 6-week website consultations closed on Nov 22nd. A last-minute rush of responses required a similar analysis response.

The results are likely to be released in two sections. The Overview NP Steering Group will receive and discuss the results. After which the landowners will receive the data summary for their sites. It is hoped that the Spring Broadsheet will contain a full set of results of the NP Sites Public Consultations. It is important to note that the sites selected by the Community still have to go through further technical assessments and there are lots of stages before the Sites are truly in the Neighbourhood Plan, this stage is usually Reg 16 although sites have been withdrawn at Examination.

Recommendation 1: For Council to note progress of Sites.

2. Draft NP:

Janvrin has started to write the draft Neighbourhood Plan. Chapters that are in first draft form are: Introduction, Vision aims and Objectives. The Natural Environment and History and Heritage Chapter are in progress. It is envisaged that the Natural Environment Chapter will be the last policy chapter to be completed so that we can include as much as possible on supporting Emergency Climate Change.

This concludes my report.
